Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam, regarded as one of the World's best teachers, once termed children as "creative powerhouses".

Now read the following story :

A very rich man once took his little son to a village to show him what poverty is all about.

After the trip he asked his son about poverty. The son replied : we have 1 dog but they have four dogs. We have a small swimming pool but they have a long river. We have electric lamps. They have glittering stars. We have a small piece of land but they have large fields. We buy food. They grow their food and eat fresh. We have to play with computers. They have real friends to play with. We have money which is supposed to make us happy. They have happiness hence they do not need money. But above all their fathers have time for their children whereas our fathers don't have. The boy's dad was speechless. Then the boy said, "Thanks dad for showing me how poor we are !"

Questions :

- (i) Why did the rich man take his son to a village ?
- (ii) Where do the children of that village swim ?
- (iii) What is the advantage of growing one's own food ?
- (iv) Does the boy feel that their money makes them happy ?
- (v) Who, according to the little boy, is really poor ?
- (vi) Why did the boy thank his dad ?
